

Erin Pike lived with her mum and her dog Archie near a big fishing town.

She longed to go out to sea, but it was too dangerous because of

L.O. To respond to a text – inference and prediction

1. Describe Erin's character.

Erin Pike lived with her mum and her dog Archie near a big fishing town.

She longed to go out to sea, but it was too dangerous because of ...

2. Predict what will happen next.

I predict that a strange species of fish that Erin has never seen before swims to the surface and speaks to her. The mysterious sea creature tells her that its family are in danger. Only she can help!

Not wishing to disobey her mother, but unable to resist the pleas of the little fish, Erin races back to her house, Greta panting at her heels. She grabs her backpack, writes a note to her mum and then dashes back to the jetty where a little boat is waiting.

A vibrant, stylized illustration of a coastal town. In the foreground, a young girl with white hair, wearing a yellow jacket and a red backpack, sits on a wooden pier. The pier is supported by wooden posts in the water. In the background, a fishing boat with a red hull and white superstructure is docked. The town features colorful houses and a prominent red-roofed tower. The scene is set against a backdrop of rolling green hills and a bright, sunny sky with soft clouds.

Erin Pike lived with her mum and her dog Archie near a big fishing town.

She longed to go out to sea, but it was too dangerous because of ...

Can you include a relative clause?

