

Year 6 enjoyed a practical talk with local sculpture artist Marshall Lambert this afternoon.

As part of the Waltham Forest London Borough of Culture, Marshall will create a series of 12 wood carvings representing animals from the woods for an arts trail entitled "Wild About Highams Park". The sculptures will be spread across the different green spaces in the local area.

Activities you can do to get involved:

- Explore the local area to find the 12 large wooden sculptures.
- The carvings will represent the wildlife you might find in the local area; name the types of wild creatures that you might find in Highams Park .
- If you had to be one of those creatures, which would you choose to be and why?
- All the sculptures will be made from trees that have been felled (cut down). How many types of trees can you name?
