

Set a Good Example

Sunday, 7 pm

I'm writing this in my new bedroom, which is microscopic. Mum seems to think it would be better utilised as a storeroom, because boxes are covering every inch of available floor space. I doubt that I'll ever see any of my possessions again. Mum is in a foul mood, which is probably because I've just told her exactly how I feel about leaving our beautiful house for this dismal top floor flat with no garden and fifty thousand stairs. She said I need to be less pessimistic and "set a good example" to my little brother, but I don't think two-year-olds notice either way. I've just stubbed my toe on a box for the third time — it'll probably go black and fall off. I'm going to bed.

Monday, 11.30 am

This school is nothing like my old one: the playground is tiny, the corridors are too busy and the classrooms are cramped. I'm sat between two particularly irritating boys, who seem to think that throwing stationery at my head is infinitely exciting. Mr Bullstrode, my Maths teacher, actually resembles a bull. He's a huge man with dark, curly hair, who snorts when he's cross — which is most of the time, apparently. He says he's put me between these two apes so I can "set a good example". So I am writing my diary to show them that writing is a good thing to do.

Monday, 12.30 pm

Perhaps it's not a good thing to do in Maths. I've been issued with a lunchtime detention on my first day. Not the best of starts.

Monday, 9 pm

The only good feature of my new bedroom is that you can see into other people's flats. At the moment, I'm observing a large man wearing a fluffy dressing gown and curlers in his hair, dancing around his bedroom with an imaginary partner. He looks a bit familiar. Now he's grabbed a rose and stuck it between his teeth. I think he's doing the tango, but he looks rather cross about it.

1. What does the word pessimistic mean in the text?

Tick one box.

- rude
- annoying
- naughty
- despairing

1 mark

2. How old is the writer's brother?

.....

1 mark

3. In what two ways does Mr Bullstrode resemble a bull?

1).....

2).....

1 mark

4. What does the word apes suggest about what the writer thinks of the two boys?

.....

.....

1 mark

5. Who do you think the dancing neighbour is?

.....

1 mark

6. What does the writer think about her new home?
Use the text to support your answer.

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

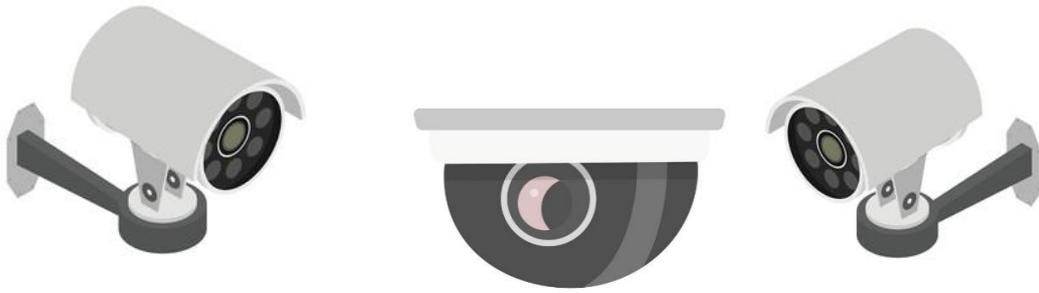

.....

.....

3 marks

Only Scroll down if you have finished your homework.

Answers to be revealed on the next page!

Answers

Set C

Test 1 — Pages 40-42

1. 1 mark
despairing
(2a)
2. 1 mark
two (years old)
(2b)
3. 1 mark for both correct
He is huge.
He snorts.
(2d)
4. 1 mark for a sensible answer, e.g.
"She thinks they are uncivilised."
(2g)
5. 1 mark
Mr Bullstrode
(2d)
6. 1 mark for suggesting an opinion, with one piece of supporting evidence, e.g.
"She doesn't like her new home because she moans about her small bedroom."
2 marks for suggesting an opinion, with two pieces of supporting evidence, e.g.
"She doesn't like her new home, because she calls her bedroom 'microscopic' and the flat 'dismal'."
3 marks for suggesting an opinion, with three pieces of supporting evidence OR for suggesting multiple opinions, each with supporting evidence, e.g.
"She thinks it's too small, because she calls her bedroom 'microscopic'. She also thinks it's gloomy, because she says the flat is 'dismal' with no garden."
(2c)